Psalm 35:17

Lord, how long will You look on?
Rescue me from their destructions,
My precious life from the lions.

God can move at a pace that doesn't fit into our time frame. He can move so fast it seems to run past us or He can move so slow it may seem He is uninterested in our affairs. Sometimes we may wonder if He is looking on us at all. Sometimes it seems that's all He's doing is looking on us. How long will God look? That seems to be a big question these days.

This man was in a situation that he could not just walk out of. He needed divine intervention to help rescue him from certain destructions planned against him. He referred to his life as precious, all life is precious. At this time lions eat up life, they only eat live prey, but that is destined to change.

In The Master's Service,

Bo Sullivan
